

Disclaimer

The information provided on the Bullock Access website is for general informational purposes only. While we strive to keep content accurate and up to date, it should not be relied upon as professional, medical, or legal advice.

- Product information: Specifications, features, and availability may change without notice. Please contact us directly for the most current product details.
- Accessibility solutions: The descriptions of stair lifts, wheelchair lifts, ramps, patient transfer systems, and other products are general in nature. The suitability of these solutions depends on each customer's specific home, business, and accessibility needs.
- No medical advice: Nothing on this Site should be taken as medical guidance. Please consult a qualified healthcare provider for advice about your individual situation.

Use of this Site is at your own discretion and risk.